HiWi Wanted!

Short description: For the period of July to September 2018, we are looking for an engaged student that could help us develop an Android App in a form of a questionnaire to be used in Research on mental health in research projects in Central Africa and South America.

Required skills: Java and knowledge on programming Android Apps.

Task: We need you to code in Java using AndroidStudio. The task will be to configure questions in the App, build a start page, and set the ground to a platform where we can save and store questions in an output ready for statistical analysis use. The work will be focused on smartphone or tablets.

If you are interested, please contact us under the e-mail below:

Contact:
Samuel Carleial: samuel.carleial@uni-konstanz.de
Dep. of Clinical and Neuropsychology Uni Konstanz