PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES
Concur, a part of SAP, offers cloud-based services that make it simple to manage travel and expenses. By integrating data and applications, Concur delivers an effortless experience and total transparency into spend wherever and whenever it happens.

The integration of credit card data is one of the most important topics in the spend area. There is no more need for travelers to manually enter their expenses; instead all credit card paid expenses are automatically imported into the system ensuring high data quality and integrity.

As a cloud software development department within SAP in location Walldorf/St.Leon-Rot, we are contributing to development in Concur Travel and Expenses.

EXPECTATIONS AND TASKS
You will work together with a great team of experienced and engaged 8-10 cross-functional and diverse development experts in designing new features and re-architecting existing ones in the area of credit card integration.
* Design and develop code to scale to increasing numbers of users: The biggest corporate Expense tool is growing, and our product needs to scale along with our customers.
* Ensure a high software quality by designing, developing and executing manual and automated tests suites.
* Help resolve customer impacting issues in production: Provide the technical knowledge and analysis to find root cause and resolve service outages.
* Ensure smoothly service operations
* Continuously learn and self-develop
