

Declaration

Plagiarism is the copying or paraphrasing of other people's work or ideas without full acknowledgement. Rules of good scientific practice generally require that all sources and references have to be indicated by quotes. Intentional plagiarism may incur severe penalties, including failure of your degree.

I hereby declare that the attached term paper for the following class

(title/lecturer)

on the following topic

--

(Topic/title of the work) is the result of my own, independent work. I have not used any aids or sources other than those I have referenced in the document.

For contributions and quotations from the works of other people (whether distributed electronically or in hardcopy), I have identified each of them with a reference to the source or the secondary literature. Failure to do so constitutes plagiarism. I will also submit the term paper electronically to the lecturer. Furthermore, I declare that the above-mentioned work has not been otherwise submitted as a term paper.

I am aware that papers that turn out to be plagiarized will be graded "insufficient" (5,0). Every suspected case of plagiarism will be submitted to the examination board, which will decide on further sanctions. For repeated or otherwise serious fraud or plagiarism cases, the Examination Board may decide to deny the candidate permission to re-sit the examination, resulting in a complete loss of right to examination. The legal basis for this procedure can be found in the examination regulations of the Master's programme "Computer and Information Science" § 8 (7). These rules also apply to all students taking classes in our department.
